A Woman's Heart

Celtic Woman

My heart is low, my heart is so low As only a woman's heart can be As only a woman's, as only a woman's As only a woman's heart can knowThe tears that drip From my bewildered eyes Taste of bitter sweet romance You're still in my hopes You're still on my mind And even though I manage on my own My heart is low, my heart is so low As only a woman's heart can be As only a woman's, as only a woman's As only a woman's heart can knowWhen restless eyes Reveal my troubled soul And memories flood my weary heart I mourn for my dreams I mourn for my wasted love And while I know that I'll survive aloneMy heart is low, oh my heart is so low As only a woman's heart can be As only a woman's, as only a woman's As only a woman's heart can know My heart is low, oh my heart is so low As only a woman's heart can be As only a woman's, as only a woman's As only a woman's heart can know Only a woman's heart can know.
