

Age of Man

Greta Van Fleet

In an age of darkness light appears
And it wards away the ancient fears
March to the anthem of the heart
To a brand new day, a brand new start
To wonder lands of ice and snow
In the desert heat where nothing grows
A tree of life in rain and sun
To reach the sky it's just begun
And as we came into the clear
To find ourselves where we are here
Who is the wiser to help us steer
And will we know when the end is near
Beauty lives in every soul
The more you love the more you know
They pass the torch and it still burns
Once children then it's now our turn
And as we came into the clear
To find ourselves where we are here
Who is the wiser to help us steer
And will we know when the end is near
And as we came into the clear
To find ourselves where we are here
Who is the wiser to help us steer
And will we know when the end is near
