

Beautifully Unfinished

Ella Henderson

Sunday, rain drops, clock goes tick tock
...
I hate myself for staring at the phone
...
Get all your text, can't erase them
...
I call you up but I know you're not alone
...
I know that I should not hold on, so why can't I let go?
Cause every time I'm with you somehow I forget to breathe
...
You caught me like a rag doll, now I'm dancing on your strength
...
And I keep trying to figure out who you are to me
...
But maybe all that we were meant to be
...
Is beautifully unfinished, beautifully unfinished
...
You left your kiss like a bruise on my lips
...
Your fingerprints are tattooed on my skin
...
And hush now, don't cry, build your walls high
...
And don't you dare come creeping in
...
Cause you're the one that I can't lose
You're the one that I can't win
Cause every time I'm with you somehow I forget to breathe
You caught me like a rag doll, now I'm dancing on your strength
...
And I keep trying to figure out who you are to me
...
But maybe all that we are meant to be
...
Is beautifully unfinished
...
And I hate you, and I love you
And I wish you'd go away

And I hate you, and I love you
And I wish that you would stay

Cause every time I'm with you somehow I forget to breathe

...

You caught me like a rag doll, now I'm dancing on your strength

...

And I keep trying to figure out who you are to me

...

But maybe all that we are meant to be

...

Oh, beautifully unfinished, we're beautifully unfinished
