

About Nothing

Scott Weiland

She got nothing but she's waiting at the candy store
She got nothing but she's waiting at the candy store

She got nothing nothing

But she still wants more

She got nothing nothing

But she still wants more

She said So turn your head

Unlock the door

You'll never get what you had before

So turn your head

Unlock the door

You'll never get what you had before

She waits while you think about it

And while you think about nothing

And while you think about nothing

She waits while you think about it

And while you think about nothing

And while you think about nothing She got nothing but she's waiting at the candy store

She got nothing but she's waiting at the candy store

She got nothing nothing

But she still wants more

She got nothing nothing

But she still wants more

She said So turn your head

Unlock the door

You'll never get what you had before

So turn your head

Unlock the door

You'll never get what you had before

She waits while you think about it

And while you think about nothing

And while you think about nothing

She waits while you think about it

And while you think about nothing

And while you think about nothing So turn your head

Unlock the door

You'll never get what you had before

So turn your head

Unlock the door

You'll never get what you had before She waits while you think about it

And while you think about nothing

And while you think about nothing

She waits while you think about it
And while you think about nothing
And while you think about nothing nothing nothing nothing

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>