

Take It All

Sawyer Fredericks

My head is spinning around and my heart is on the floor beating louder than the roar of thunder, banging on my doors
so take it all oh, take it all I left my world wide open it felt like a dream you found me as another, i barely knew my name you take it all oh
oh, oh
take the hurt in my chest
take the pain in my eyes
take the fear in my soul
take the tears that i cry you call me out of my head and i was ready to fall cause you are all that i need
my bodys almost broken, it cant contain my soul this storm is going quiet, but i still feel the cold i left my world behind me, i'll never be the same but these memories still screaming loud, calling out my name
so take it all, so take it all, so take it all, take it all hey now its hard to let go of everything that i use to know hey now, theres nothing left to hold, and darling i cant make it alone
