

Leaving Tonight

The Neighbourhood

You fooled me from the start
When you let me start to love you
It's like a bunch of broken picture frames
But the photo still remains the same And I, I thought it'd be easy to run but my legs are broken
All alone, all we know, it's haunting me Making it harder to breathe, harder to breathe
I'm leaving tonight, I'm leaving tonight
I'm leaving tonight, yeah, I'm leaving tonight
I'm leaving tonight, I'll be gone in the morning I saw it from afar but my eyes have always fooled me
It looked to me like all the sidewalks started walking
I swear to god the voices wouldn't shut up And I, I figured it all to be love but this isn't lovely
All alone, all we know, it's haunting me
Making it harder to breathe, harder to breathe
I'm leaving tonight, I'm leaving tonight
I'm leaving tonight, I'm leaving tonight
I'm leaving tonight, I'll be gone in the morning
All alone, all we know, it's haunting me
Making it harder to breathe, harder the breathe
I'm leaving tonight, I'm leaving tonight
I'm leaving tonight, I'm leaving tonight
I'm leaving tonight, I'll be gone in the morning
