Prepared

Jill Scott

```
I been reading my own journals checking to see where my head has been and i been apologizing to some people some bridges i needed to mend and i been eating more greens getting my body alkiline im gonna be super fine and i been letting been letting some old ideas go im making room for my life to grow i just wanna be prepared i just wanna be just wanna be prepared getting myself prepared preparedHere and I I been getting recipes off the internet most times they be banging i realized their only good when i put my lil spices all up in rices i been you know i been enjoying people who love each other husband and wife sister and brother
                  father and mother
                i let the queen inside
                   i let her shine i been listening to God more i been doing my chores
                   i just wanna be
                   i just wanna be
                      prepared
                      prepared
                       repeat
```

Lyrics provided by http://counterlikes.com/