

Broke (Zette Dremen Remix)

The Liberty

How many times will you force my life upon, those two ways?
You can join the crowd or you can fly above the battleground of lies.
And how many people did you break along your way? I've lost the count.
Step by step I'm moving further away from them. I need to escape now.
How many ways are lost and forgotten?
How many times you feel alone?
Now this is the cure, don't try to say another words,
cause I won't lie to the truth.
How many ways are lost and forgotten?
How many times you feel alone?
Now this is the cure, don't try to say another words,
cause I won't lie to the truth.
This is not a major mistake for you,
young and clever boy.
Cause you think that she'll conquer the word of lies.
And this new changes must be accepted.
And this new changes must be accepted.
How many ways are lost and forgotten?
How many times you feel alone?
Now this is the cure don't try to say another words,
cause I won't lie to the truth.
How many ways are lost and forgotten?
How many times you feel alone?
Now this is the cure don't try to throw another words,
cause I won't lie to the truth.
How many ways are lost and forgotten?
How many times you feel alone?
Now this is the cure don't try to throw another words,
cause I won't lie to the truth.
How many ways are lost and forgotten?
How many times you feel alone?
Now this is the cure don't try to throw another words,
cause I won't lie to the truth.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>