Wrecking Ball

Frankmusik

Baby you let me down
                     I'm closing the door
                      I can't bear to see
                  Your sweet eyes anymore
                   Every second that I stay
                    I'm sinking further in
                 To your clever little games
   And the heartache that they bringDon't you know by now
                   When I scream out loud
                   That I'm done with you
                    And the things you do
                      I can't run or hide
                   From your love or lies
                       Can I win a war
                 When you're changing sides
             Every time you tear me down down
                     Tear me down down
                With your wrecking ball heart
                      Baby tear it apart
                           It's like
             Every time you tear me down down
                     Tear me down down
                With your wrecking ball heart
                     Baby tear it, tear it
         Picking up parts of meScattered on the floor
                   Reckless love is strong
                  I wish my soul was more
                 Terrified and scared to death
                   I'm searching for a way
                 To keep you more in check
                    Hear what I gotta say
                   Don't you know by now
                   When I scream out loud
                  That I'm through with you
                    And the things you do
                      I can't run or hide
                    From your love or lies
                       Can I win a war
When you're changing sidesEvery time you tear me down down
                     Tear me down down
                With your wrecking ball heart
                      Baby tear it apart

It's like Every time you tear me down down Tear me down down With your wrecking ball heart Baby tear it, tear itBaby now I'm taking cover You're my destructive lover Baby you are like no other Wrecking all of us Baby now I'm taking cover You're my destructive lover Baby you are like no other Wrecking all of us Wrecking all of us You're wrecking all of us With a wrecking ball With a wrecking ball Do you really want to wreck us all With a wrecking ball With a wrecking ball Wreck it allEvery time you tear me down down Tear me down down With your wrecking ball heart Baby tear it apart It's like Every time you tear me down down Tear me down down With your wrecking ball heart Baby tear itEvery time you tear me down down Tear me down down With your wrecking ball heart Baby tear it apart It's like Every time you tear me down down Tear me down down With your wrecking ball heart Baby tear it, tear itDon't you know by now When I scream out loud That I'm done with you And the things you do I can't run or hide From your love or lies Can I win a war When you're changing sidesEvery time you tear me down down Tear me down down With your wrecking ball heart Baby tear it apart It's like Every time you tear me down down Tear me down down

With your wrecking ball heart Baby tear it apart
