

If You Let It

Thelma

From a half sleep
Slipping softly
'hind my eyes an ancient longing
For the space with no location
But I can find the signal here
Lines are crossed of will and fear
It is ringing loud and clear
If you let it, if you let it
If you let it, if you let it
If you let it, If you let the Noise disappear
The noise disappear
From a moonbeam I can't hear
You or feel the limits you put
On yourself and those around you
You deserve more, you deserve more you
Deserve more, you deserve more you
Deserve more, you deserve more
But you can find that signal dear
Lines are crossed of will and fear
It is ringing loud and clear
If you let it, if you let it
If you let it, if you let it
If you let it, if you let it
If you let it, if you let the noise disappear
