

Wires and the Concept of Breathing

A Skylit Drive

Won't you scream my name?
For the first time (For the first time)
For the last time (For the last time) As I lay down my life before you
The hiding place where you sort out your lies
Screaming outwards to shoot me back in time
You sent me out in the right field
Spilled my words and disguise
We're starting a rise
Now I told you I can't go on without you by my side
Every night we die
Hold my breath just to see her go
I hold it in my hand for you Won't you scream my name?
For the first time (For the first time)
For the last time (For the last time) And I regret the moments I gave you
Searching for my plans to devour you
I finally found out the truth
You sent me out in the right field
Spilled my words and disguise
We're starting a rise
Now I told you I can't go on without you by my side
Every night we die Let go of the wires,
Let go of the wires!
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>