To Live Forever

Dream Theater

If I'd started from the top And worked my way down There'd be no reason To live forever To live foreverThe starvation has turned Me outside in And the wind has blown Me halfway across the world Across the world Why was I born In an age of distrust I'd offered some change For a photographIt will always stay the same You will always be the sameUntil I saw the desire for revenge My heart never once went astray As long as I have to die in the attempt Then there is no reason To live foreverI found you where They left you there A passing word that's gone foreverAnd searching my memory for answers I saw the words of a letter you wrote She said 'you don't have to live forever,

You don't want to live forever.'
And everything's changing now,
I don't want to live forever.
