Alone Together

Dan + Shay

I couldn't help but notice you were sitting by yourself
Dropping limes in a Corona like
You're trying to get over somebody else
It's funny how you're story sounds a little like mine

Oh, cause' I've been at a table with a

Bottle peeling labels to pass the timeWe can be blue eyes and neon light

Singing them sad up songs all night

We can say goodbye, just head home

But, if we're going to be aloneWe should be alone together

Kissing over there in the corner where nobody else can see

Keeping each other company

We should be alone together

Leaning up against my car door parked

Outside on the street, where it's just you and me

We should be alone together

I couldn't help but notice you could use another drink

Yeah, I don't wanna leave ya

And it's two for one Tequila so what you think? We can be blue eyes and neon light

Singing them sad up songs all night

We can say goodbye, just head home

But, if we're going to be aloneWe should be alone together

Kissing over there in the corner where nobody else can see

Keeping each other company

We should be alone together

Leaning up against my car door parked

Outside on the street, where it's just you and me

We should be alone together

We should be alone together

We should be alone together, oh yeah

We should be alone together

Over there in the corner where nobody else can seeWe should be alone together

Kissing over there in the corner where nobody else can see

Keeping each other company

We should be alone together

Leaning up against my car door parked

Outside on the street, where it's just you and me

We should be alone together

We should be alone together

We should be alone together, oh yeah

We should be alone together
