Begin Again

Knife Party

Is there somewhere else to be? Is there another way to feel The lost pieces all over Getting closerHold up your hands and begin again Hold up your hands when you reach the end We live and we work and we die for it We know our path and we fight for it Hold up your hands and begin again Hold up your hands when you reach the end We live and we work and we die for it We know our path and collide for itAnd begin again When you reach the end And begin again When you reach the end And begin again When you reach the end And begin again When you reach the end
