

Koran

Laibach

I believe in a better world
I believe in a better place
I believe in brotherhood, equality and freedom
I believe in happiness for all When the light is leading us
Through the darkness of the night
There are questions I will follow When the light is leading us There are all these questions on my mind
Words are nice
Words are memories of pain
The future is invisible
Words are something that remain Words are substance for tomorrow
They are weapons of our mind
Words can take us far away
They will leave us all behind
You believe in a better world
You believe in a better place
You believe in brotherhood, equality and freedom
You believe in happiness for all When the sun goes down again
And the moon is shining bright
There are all these questions on our mind

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>