2. Supernatural 5: 49

(Kevin Sandbloom) You can't avoid this confrontation

You set yourself up good darlin'

Don't you want to make it better

I think your world's a contradiction

You so enjoy your pain baby

I can't tell you anything

You should already know I'm on a mission

It means that much to me darlin'

Don't you ever feel the weight Behind you

Just how beautiful

The world could be inside you

Just how beautiful

How am I to remind you

Just how beautiful

Someone chase those angry clouds away There's so much mess be overlapping

I take my chances with it

Don't you want to make it better

All kinds a wicked understanding

I'm such a simple fool darling

I can't tell you anything

This time I'm in it for the knowledge

That there was some exchange

Don't you ever feel the weight Behind you

Just how beautiful

The world could be inside you

Just how beautiful

How am I to remind you

Just how beautiful

We're on our way

There's so much to say

Just don't run away this time I'm feeling so damn supernatural

I'll light a candle for you darlin'

Don't you want to make it better

I just can't listen to the drama

Some things are more important

I can't tell you anything

Please use these tools for moving forward

So please don't run away baby

Don't you ever feel the weight Behind you

Just how beautiful

The world could be inside you

Just how beautiful
How am I to remind you
Just how beautiful Every single morning I
Grab a brand new slice of sky
Spread my mind and let it fly
If I'm breathing I will try I'm on my way
Nothing much to say
Just don't run away
Feels fine
