We Could Go Back (feat. Moelogo)

Jonas Blue

Should have, could have, would have, but it's too late Shouldn't catch feelings on a first date 0 to 100, no first base Ended up with coffee back at your placeEvery night is keeping me awake I keep thinking about all the things I would changeIf I could go back Tell me would you even, would you still believe in And if we could turn back Tell me would you even, would you still believe in me?but it's no race Never a time to find our own pace Trying to drive feelings that won't go away Sleep in the bed of my own mistakes Every night is keeping me awake I keep thinking about all the things I would changeIf I could go back Tell me would you even, would you still believe in And if we could turn back Tell me would you even, would you still believe in me?I know time waits for no man I'm standing here now with no plans Let's go, baby Go, go, baby I know time waits for no man I'm standing here now with no plans Let's go, baby Go, go, baby If I could go back Tell me would you even, would you still believe in And if we could turn back (if we could come back) Tell me would you even, would you still believe in me? Tell me would you still believe in me Tell me would you still believe
