See You Later

Heatmiser

you got a choke chain made out of nightrain to keep your memory down in quicksand from the main man to gel everything out always out on a joyride lay it out from insides always at a dead stall from sticking pins into miniature men who can't feel it at allsee you later see you later if i see you at all see you later see you later see you later if i see you at all see you laterwalk thru thick mud looking for new blood thinking i heard your name cruel imagination is still giving me pain just to find you with the masterminder of one of your little affairs saying how he loves you now let me show you how much i caresee you later see you later if i see you at all see you later see you later if i see you at allsee you later see you later if i see you at all see you later

Lyrics provided by http://counterlikes.com/