

Conversation

Catfish and the Bottlemen

I love to find myself looking straight up to you for the answers for when I've found myself wrapped up in my own little world 'cause you tell me to get through tomorrow 'cause you know how it feels yes, you know how it feels When the perfect conversation looks you in the eyes and says they get what you've been saying
this whole time
you can look for confirmation
all your life
but you ain't gonna find much better than this
You stood beside myself when everything lacked momentum
you stood beside myself when I needed somebody who knows who knows just how to get through tomorrow 'cause they know how it feels yes, they know how it feels When the perfect conversation looks you in the eyes
this whole time
all your life
And I know, after all that's gone on there's no comparing us at all how did you expect me to leave it when you know me more than I know myself? the minute you're up for it I mean it we'll find a little moment in time to set up somewhere different for a while When the perfect conversation
this whole time
you can look for complications all that you like but you ain't gonna find, ain't gonna find, much better than this When the perfect conversation sheds a little light

this entire time
all that you like
but you ain't gonna find it, ain't gonna find it, ain't gonna find it
