

Dogs At the Table

Fences

I know this is kind of frightening
But you'd feel a little better if you'd put it in writing

I confess

I confess

I confess that I love you more

Than the dogs at the table

That I love you more

Than the dogs at the table

And in the night

You know they cry for you

And in the night

I know

I know

I know

I know this is kinda of frightening
And you're curled up in the corner
And you're shaking from the lightning

I confess

I confess

I confess that I love you more

Than the dogs at the table

That I love you more

Than the dogs at the table

And in the night

You know they cry for you

And in the night

I know

I know

I know

And in the night

You know they cry for you

And in the night

I know

I know

I know

(I know)

(I know)

(I know)

You never knew 'cause I never told ya
Howling for you like a dog in the corner
You never knew 'cause I never told ya
Howling for you like a dog in the corner

And in the night
You know they cry for you
And in the night
I know
I know
I know
And in the night
You know they cry for you
And in the night
I know
I know
I know
And in the night
You know they cry for you
And in the night
I know
I know
I know
And in the night
You know they cry for you
And in the night
I know
I know
I know.
