

That Way Again

Lee Brice

He used to hold her hand, he used to hold her door.
She don't know what that feels like anymore.
Just last night he was sleepin', she kissed his face, he said "I gotta work in the morning" and rolled away. He used to love her like crazy, you couldn't pull them apart.
God she felt so unbelievable in his arms.
Now she's catchin' herself lookin' down at her ring every now and then.
She don't wanna leave, she just needs it to be that way again. So this mornin' she had coffee with a brand new friend.
She still had half a cup left when he asked her "can i see you again".
That made her smile like she hadn't smiled in years,
in just a second her smile turned to tears.
She said, "he used to love me like crazy, you couldn't pull us apart.
God i felt so unbelievable in his arms".
But now shes catchin' herself lookin' down at her ring every now and then.
She don't wanna leave she just needs it to be that way again. She left that little cafe, she headed straight to her car.
She picked up her phone, he didn't say hi,
he just said "hey, when you gettin' home?"
She said, "you used to love me like crazy, you couldn't pull us apart.
God I felt so unbelievable in your arms.
But now I'm catchin' myself lookin' down at my ring every now and then.
But I don't wanna leave I just need you to be that way again." I don't wanna leave you, but I need you to be that way again.
Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>