

Only One

Jill Phillips

you are the only road that leads me home but i only take you when im lost you are the only one who loves me in my weeknesses but i only love you when im strongyou are the only water giving life but i only drink you when i thirst now that iv taken all these things for granted all this time you'd think i get what i deservebut you cared so much for me that you gave your only son
and you'd do it all again
if i was the only one i know i dont deserve your love for me and i know its something i cant earn you are the only one whose love does not depend upon what i give you in return but you cared so much for me
that you gave your only son
and you'd do it all again
if i was the only oneyou alone created every star in every galaxy you also made these lines upon my hands how could someone so great have such deep concern for only meyou.oh you you'd do it all again
if i was the only one
but you cared so much for me
that you gave your only son
and you'd do it all again
if i was the only one

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>