

I Bet You Don't Curse God

Christina Grimmie

I bet You don't curse God.
When the Doctor calls with a stern voice
and the test results
and he asks You to come in right away.
I bet You don't curse God.
When you're on a plane in a turbulence, pourin' rain
And you're hoping that you'll make it out okay.
Everybody cries, We've all faked a smile.
When your back's against the wall
and your hands are tied.
There's pain, Life hurts
There's a thousand things You think You don't deserve.
All hope is lost
When You spend it all and You just can't beat the odds.
I bet You don't curse God.
I bet You don't curse God.
I bet You don't curse God when your child is gone
And he ain't picking up the phone
And it's 2am on a Saturday in July.
I bet you don't curse God at your bottom ine
and your credid cards are all declined
And you don't know where you're gonna sleep tonight.
Everybody cries, We've all faked a smile.
When your back's against the wall
and your hands are tied.
There's pain, Life hurts
There's a thousand things You think You don't deserve.
All hope is lost
When You spend it all and You just can't beat the odds.
I bet You don't curse God.
Oh, I bet You don't curse God.
I bet you don't curse God when you're dying in bed
About to take your one last breath
and you're holding on before you say goodnight.
There's pain, Life hurts
There's a thousand things You think You don't deserve.
When All hope is lost
When You spend it all
and You just can't beat the odds.
I bet You don't curse... GOD.
I bet You don't curse... GOD.

I bet you don't curse God.
