Runaway

Lush

Come on boy, I wanna dance now Line by line we talk all night, yeahHold me down, I think, I'm flying Everybody's eyes are shining Runaway to where the world is fineHold on boy, you're falling fast now Line by line you go no where, yeahDrag me down I feel, I'm sinking Can't relate to what you're thinking Runaway to where the sun don't shine Hello, hello, are you still there? You don't answer me 'cause you just don't care Act so young but you look so old And you're too far gone to find your own way homeLife's so hard for you to handle You can't live without your devil Boy, you think that you're so special Well, life is hard for everyone, believe meHello, hello, do you still care? You don't answer me 'cause there's no one there Run away from your own sweet soul And you're too far gone to find your own way home Hello, hello, are you still there? You don't answer me 'cause you just don't care Act so young but you look so old And you're too far gone to find your own way home
