

Strangers (feat. Tove Lo)

Seven Lions & Myon & Shane 54

Nothing more than strangers passing by out on the street
Memories are fading though it's only been a week
All the little things are gone
The things we used to be
Nobody could take us down
There was only you and me
And without you I can't be
You're the universe to me You're the air in my lungs
You're the fields where I run
You're the sky where I'm floating Don't want to be a stranger Want to be the one you need
I can be your world, your life your lover, all for free
All the little things come back
The things we used to be
Nobody can take us down
There was only you and me
And without you I can't be
You're the universe to me
You're the air in my lungs
You're the fields where I run
You're the sky where I'm floating
And without you I can't be
You're the universe to me
You're the air in my lungs
You're the fields where I run
You're the sky where I'm floating
