Darkest Hour

Charlotte OC

It wasn't meant to be like this A life for someone else There's a road to the righteous That doesn't lead through hell There's a drop on your eyelid That stays just for him There's a scream in your silence That doesn't let anyone inNow you don't understand why you stayed As you lay in the coffin he made you You're a stone that's been thrown in the lake Now you sink in, it sinks in In the top of the tower The devil he waits, the devil he waits for you In the darkest of hours We pray, pray for you I know you've been locked up there With no hope anywhere In the top of the tower The devil he waits, the devil he waits for youNow you lay in the ashes Of the house you build Out of old books and matches But you lay there still In the time of black magic And they're out to kill Here's my heart you can have it And you always will Now you don't understand why you stayed Cause you lay in the coffin he made you You're a stone that's been thrown in the lake Now you sink in, it sinks inIn the top of the tower The devil he waits, the devil he waits for you In the darkest of hours We pray, pray for you I know you've been locked up there With no hope anywhere In the top of the tower The devil he waits, the devil he waits for youOh oh lt wasn't meant to be like this A life for someone else There's a road to the righteous

That doesn't lead through hell Oh oh ohIn the top of the tower The devil he waits, the devil he waits for you In the darkest of hours We pray, pray for you I know you've been locked up there With no hope anywhere In the top of the tower The devil he waits, the devil he waits for you In the top of the tower The devil he waits, the devil he waits for you In the darkest of hours We pray, pray for you I know you've been locked up there But go open your way In the top of the tower The devil he waits, the devil he waits for you

Lyrics provided by http://counterlikes.com/