The heart is a stone, and this is a stone that we throw Put your hand on this stone, it's the stone of a home you know They say we will go far, but they don't know how far we'll go With our legs on the edge and our feet on the horizonThey say we can throw far, but they don't know how far we throw With our legs on the edge and our feet on the horizon The heart is a stone, and this is a stone that we throw They say we will go far, but they don't know how far we'll goIt can't be gone We're still right here It took so long Can't say we heard it all Limbs parallel We stood so long, we fell Tear a moment from the days That carry us on forever This push and pull is the force of a wave of time In the heat of a night we would cry, you are not mine They said we would go far, but they didn't know how far we'd go 'Cause this heart is a stone, and this is a stone that we throw It can't be gone We're still right here It took so long Can't say we saw it all Limbs parallel We stood so long, we fell Bright pyramids at night That carry us on forever It can't be gone We're still right here It took so long Can't say we felt it all Limbs parallel We stood so long, we fell Love's like a pantheon It carries on forever Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941.
