Melody (feat. James Blunt)

Lost Frequencies

Hey melody

Every night you play me something sweet

And when I'm down, you always change the key

I need you now, my heart has lost the beat

And I'm counting on your love, hey melody

We both could use a reason just to smile

So let me be your harmony tonight Every note you hit cuts into meSo let me hear your love, sing

So let me hear your love, sing

Let me hear your love, sing

So let me hear your love, sing

So let me hear your love, sing

Let me hear your love, sing

Hey melody

Every night you play me something sweet

And when I'm down, you always change the key

I need you now, my heart has lost the beat

And I'm counting on your love, hey melody

We both could use a reason just to smile

So let me be your harmony tonight

Every note you hit cuts into me

So let me hear your love, sing

So let me hear your love, sing

Let me hear your love, sing

So let me hear your love, sing

So let me hear your love, sing

Let me hear your love, sing

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://counterlikes.com/