

Born Treacherous

Dimmu Borgir

With defiance and resistance
I burn the bridges and their names
Will I ever comprehend
My own spells and games? Let me keep my world
Let me have my slaves
They all do wonders for me
So I can leave things be
Let me keep my world
As I am too blind to see When I lay in bed at night
Wishing well
When I pray for recovery
Feeling hell
Suffocating in my own filth
With no fresh air to inhale
With defiance and resistance
I burn the bridges and their names
Will I ever comprehend
My own spells and games? Born treacherous
Born treacherous
Born treacherous Insanity keeps me away and free
From the core of responsibility
But once the pace quickens
I'll be derived from myself
In total mind captivity Let me keep my world
Let me have my slaves
Let me keep my world
Let me have my slaves
They all do wonders for me
So I can leave things be
Let me keep my world
As I am too blind to see Born treacherous
Born treacherous
Born treacherous
