Bullet and a Target (Radio Edit)

Bliss n Eso

I believe that together we can really make a difference One man cannot make a difference But if we can partner If we can have a collective will This will can really make a difference in our nation We can really do make a difference in our nationI believe that together we can really make a different One man cannot make a difference, but if we can partner If we can have a collective will, and a willingness to make a difference in our nation We can really do make a different What you have done, is put yourself between a bullet and a target Won't be long, won't be long...All it took was one in a trillion In a world where they're gunning civilians Where conspiracies just drop on us like plummeting buildings Government villains at night, we are renegades who fight Under a pilgrims plight for a better way of life See we sail the seas with a sun stained atlas To escape the day to day mental mundane madness That consumes us, it's true, though my real answer lays Is stepping back to view life's real grand Monet But crucial issues are lost in this crazy worlds wealth How can lust for bucks outweigh one baby girl's health? Through the cyclone we hit the Third World and found heroes With nothing but still everything, smiling at ground zeroWhat you've done here, is put yourself between a bullet and a target And it won't be long before you're pulling yourself away So let the bullets in the air turn to raining rose petals That covers the Earth's surface while the children throw pebbles From dreams to themes, to a crack in the concrete From a seed to a tree, I make it happen at God speed Whatever happened to increase the peace Fight the power for people to defeat the beast Well it's right here, it's right now It's anything I plan It's a poem that proves a point It's everything I am So on a rainy day I made my way To the promised land and back And now it's safe to say in a crazy way This song is where it's at It's equal verse what wasn't given Teachers verse the problem children

Evil verse the honest living People verse the politiciansWhat you've done here, Is put yourself between a bullet and a target And it won't be long before you're pulling yourself awayThis is definite Like the sun will rise Pure like the thought if I jump I'll fly I am revolution, my path is belief So how can they possibly stop what they can't even seeSee they tax the poor Their evil got em' coughing up There's no real freedom under a legal modern mafia Set the goal and unite, get cocked and take aim The people are the power to make change So make wayWhat you've done here, Is put yourself between a bullet and a target And it won't be long before you're pulling yourself away
