

Should I

Dennis Brown

Should I have faith in you?
Should I put my trust in you?
And should you let me down?
Should I flirt around. Why should I think this way?
Thinking that you're going away.
There ain't no way, we'll stay,
Together anymore. Am I to go on now? Living this way.
Acting like a child, so young and gay.
You don't know, what it means to be loved.
You don't know how it feels, to be hugged, oh no!
I've got to tell you this,
You're love I've tried to resist,
For I just can't go on like this,
Pretending each day.
You make me feel so mad.
You make me feel so sad.
Whenever I'm to share your love. So how could I ever go on? Living this way.
Acting like a child, so young and gay.
You don't know, what it means to be loved.
You don't know how it feels, to be hugged, oh no! I won't come down on you,
With lightning brimstone or fire.
For in my heart, that isn't what I require. My desire is, for you to be true and strong,
And then someday you will get to know,
Where you went wrong.
How could I ever go on? Living this way.
Acting like a child, so young and gay.
You don't know, what it means to be loved.
You don't know how it feels, to be hugged, oh no! No, you don't know, what it means to be loved.
You don't know how it feels, to be hugged, oh no!

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>