Wild Young Hearts

Noisettes

And while the city sleeps
I won't weep because I didn't keep
My boyfriend and the summer's end is here again
And the leaves are golden

Under the grand silver birch treeWhile we're thinking bout the people we meet

Dancing feet, wasters on the cover of a magazine

People you've kissed, people you lust

And the one's that you might not

Ever remember what's the use

I'm not what I was last summer

Not who I was in the spring

Tell me, tell me when will we learn

We love it and we leave it and we watch it burn

Damn these wild young hearts

Damn these wild young heartsNow that the city's awake, my heart aches

Oh what a silly mistake it seems I've made

You left your keys under my bed

Left a thumpin in my head

I would say sorry, what's the useCause, I'm not what I was last September

And I don't wear the same robes in May

We know we shouldn't do it, but we do it anyway

We know we might regret it but it seemed ok

Damn this wild young heart

Damn this wild young heart

Damn this wild young heart

If now is forever then what's to prove

Cause it won't be the same next summer

And I guess I'll see you in the spring

Somebody tell me, tell me, tell me, when will I learn

I love it and I leave it and I watch it burn

Damn this wild young heart

I told you damn this wild young heart

Damn this wild young

Tell me, tell me when will I learn

Damn this wild young heart

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by http://counterlikes.com/