

Rise Up

Asking Alexandria

Rise up, take back control
I find resolve in the darkest part of my mind I can stand to be inside
I find the light to be a little much at times But I will rise I will rise up with the weight of the world
I will rise up from the darkness, purged
Rise up, take back control I face the truth with a bitterness that won't subside and I face it alone
I'll be the pariah, in your war against yourself
But I will rise
This is the product of hatred and anger
A life spent on the outside but I will rise
I will rise up with the weight of the world
I will rise up from the darkness, purged
I will rise up with the weight of the world
I will rise up from the darkness, purged
I will rise up with the weight of the world
I will rise up from the darkness, purged Rise up, take back control
