I Don't Need Her

The Outfield

You said you see me running and that is no surprise When I was far from danger, I opened my eyes When I look back in anger for I did nothing wrong It's just a race for strangers and this race goes onI'm so glad that I don't need her And I'm too tired of trying to please her But in the end I just can't leave her Can't leave her tonightYou've got a different story from anything that I've been told But you evade the glory coming from the cold Don't wait until tomorrow, don't push it back to another day Don't try to hide your sorrow what else can I say I'm so glad that I don't need her And I'm too tired of trying to please her But in the end I just can't leave her Can't leave her tonightYou said you see me running But that was no surprise When I was far from danger I opened my eyesI'm so glad that I don't need her And I'm too tired of trying to please her But in the end I just can't leave her Can't leave her tonight I'm so glad that I don't need her And I'm too tired of trying to please her But in the end I just can't leave her Can't leave her tonight And not tonight
