Today's Gold

Moss

I don't need this mess I don't wanna give in You gotta break out of your shell So where do we begin? Take a look at me now Haven't really changed Take a look at me now Haven't really changedYou gotta raise and destroy What destroyed you? You gotta think for yourself And what matters to youTake a look at me now Haven't really changed Take a look at me now Will I always stay the same? Don't let it slip through your hands Just tell me how you fell You gotta give what you've got And turn it into something realTake a look at me now Haven't really changed Take a look at me now Will I always stay the same? No, Madison, I need you tonight Close to reason, I get all things right And do worries out, and do worries outright Take a look at me now Haven't really changed Take a look at me now Will I always stay the same? Take a look at me now Haven't really changed Take a look at me now Will I always stay the same?
