

Vixen In Disguise

Clan of Xymox

She said 'get over me' and pushed me away
She found someone else and is here to stay
She said she doesn't want me in her life
She said she doesn't want me by her side I see her as a vixen in disguise
I can't distinguish between the truth and her lies
I used to live here comfortably by her side
I feel the scales fell right from my eyes
Right from my eyes, right from my eyes
I don't understand why she left in such a haste
Why do these things leave always such a bitter taste?
Someday she'll cry for me like a cried for her
Someday she'll miss me like i still missing her Now I see it as a blessing in disguise
I'm moving on and so far it made me wise
To be honest, she caught me by surprise
But i know the sun will always rise
Always rise, always rise
I'll will miss your smile but i miss mine even more
She managed to reap my soul
Like a puppeteer in control
Now i see her as a devil in disguise
Now i feel like I am drowning in her lies
Like a toxic waste, all history erased
Like a toxic waste, all history erased

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>