Satisfied

Jordan Feliz

I have stumbled through the darkest of valley's I have climbed upon the highest of hills All my traveling has brought me to your fountain All I want is to come and drink my fill X2My heart Your throne This life belongs to you and you alone Let there be No divide Only you may my soul be satisfiedThere is beauty that can lead into temptation There are voices that will call me far away I have found in my surrender your salvation And in your love I've come to find a resting place X2 There broken, there thirsty who long for your mercy can run to you only you and peace everlasting beyond understanding In you only you

Lyrics provided by http://counterlikes.com/