

The Ocean

mae

Am I alone in this?
Never a night where I could sleep myself 'til day.
We must try (to) figure it out, figure it out.
It won't be that easy; we lost it somehow. You come over unannounced,
Silence broken by your voice in the dark.
I need you here tonight just like the ocean needs the waves. Oh, the night becomes the space that's somewhere in between
What I feel and what I'm told.
Sitting on the shoreline trying to figure it out, figure it out,
To find out the meaning and reach it somehow.
You come over unannounced,
Silence broken by your voice in the dark.
I need you here tonight just like the ocean needs the waves.
Fall around me now
Like stars that shine and brighten the way.
I need you here tonight just like it's night; it needs the rain. The seasons have changed,
The wind, it blows colder now, colder now.
The clouds are raised,
The rain, it falls harder now, all around. You come over unannounced, (will you come over now?)
Silence broken by your voice in the dark.
I need you here tonight just like the ocean needs the waves. (I need you here tonight, the sky, it
rains)
Fall around me now (so fall around me now)
Like stars that shine and brighten the way.
I need you here tonight just like it's night; it needs the rain. (I need you here tonight, the sky, it
rains)
You come over unannounced, (will you come over now?)
Silence broken by your voice in the dark.
I need you here tonight just like the ocean needs the waves. (I need you here tonight, the sky, it
rains)
Just like the stars that fall around me now. (Oh,...)
