Eventually

The evening smolders into night Turn up the music and i'll drive into the city lights The wind is on your face I'm blowing kisses down from outer spaceBaby won't you be Part of my fantasy Cause i can't sit and wait around until eventually So let me take you home And watch your garden grow A little closer and i'll make it so you can't say no Caress the rhythm with our feet We move as one and everyone around can feel the heat Let's take a step outside Cause me and you got something we should hideSo baby won't you be Part of my fantasy Cause i can't sit and wait around until eventually Let me take you home And watch your garden grow Alittle closer and i'll make it so you can't say noUh and it's making me crazy To be your friend when you're my fantasyThe morning's melting into day We're nose to nose and i don't think that i could turn away The world is in this room The world is in this room So baby won't you be Part of my fantasy Cause i can't sit and wait around until eventually Let me take you home And watch your garden grow A little closer and i'll make it so you can't say no
