I. Flight of the Navigator

Childish Gambino

I had a dream I had a dream I was flying over islands There were so many pretty people So many pretty faces I talked to some birds I fell in love again And none of this ever ended Everything just kept going, and going and going And even when you laughed, when you cried And even when you were sad you were really happy Because you were here And I got to meet every star, every planet Everything that made me And we all kissed And became the same We became the same We became the same Who would have thought this We almost lost it When you lie inside darkness it's hard to see And we sleep in tradition Keep them off in the distance To tell you that I haven't beenWe are all Cold water What are you all Why bother?Just hold me close my darling Just hold me close my darling Just hold me close my darling Just hold me close my darling Who would have dreamed this? You couldn't mean this It would be some type of meanness to where you are Cause I don't know where to go And no one else seems to knowWe are all Night's fallen What are you all Dark callin'So we're left alone No one left to call upon Be still now, broken bones As I travel on just hold me close my darlingSo we're left alone No one left to call upon Be still now, broken bones
