

Losing My Mind

SOJA

There's no pictures on the wall
There's no rise and there's no fall, and in the morning,
I'm all right, alone without you.
There's no phones and there's no calls
There's no talking to you at all And I don't care,
Late at night when it's not you But when I look out in the rain
I think about the past
I want it again
I think about the way you feel
Inside, I start losing my mind
I'm losing my mind
There's not formulated plans
There's no way and there's no chance
-it's been too long- And it's all back behind me
There's no going down that road And I know right where it goes
If I keep walking away,
Nothing reminds me
There's no fights and there's no tears
There's no need if you're not here
And I'm not the same anyway, anymore
There's no need to write this song
Cuz there's no changing what's been done,
And there's no changing what's inside
And it looks like it's gonna storm.

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>