

I Stand Alone

Theophilus London

The journey starts beneath the stars I stand alone
I put all my fears to all these years, swept away they're known
And know I run this town to be near you
And no grey skies ever turn blue I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone [Verse 1: Theophilus London]

The rain is phenomenal, the way that it falls
Slammin' down like a domino and lay in the malls
Said today is a new day, I'm lookin' for new prey
I'm tryin' to survive, tryin' to take in this love, s-

The clothes don't make the man

It's the man that makes the clothes

And if this war doesn't end there's nothing left to fight

And I'm sure you'll have it tonight

I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone And know I run this town to be near you
And no grey skies ever turn blue It's the skill and the confidence
The will and the dominance

The deeper you get, the more the revert is prominent

When Uncle Sam knock on door

I tell him that I'm headed for the dock on the shore

Sailin' away, are you comin' with?

Just pack for the stay, cause we're finna get, get

The war don't end there's nothing left to fight

And I'm sure you'll have it tonight

'Til I stand alone

The journey starts beneath the stars I stand alone
I put all my fears to all these years, swept away they're known
And know I run this town to be near you
And no grey skies ever turn blue I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone

I stand alone

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>