Face the Sun

James Blunt

Yes, this love's not good enough Is time to let it go Our weary hearts just fall apart I feel it in my bonesAnd God knows That it's hard to find the one But in time All the flowers turn to face the sunSo silently just walk with me Like any other day No sad goodbyes, no tears, no lies Just go our separate ways And God knows That it's hard to find the one But in time, all the flowers Yes in time All the flowers turn to face the sun And God knows That it's hard to find the one But in time All the flowers turn to face the sun
