

What I Mean

Modjo

What I mean
What I am
What I feel about the meaning of my life
What I need
What I fear
What I'd like to say
And what I lie about But I can't get used to it
I get her off my mind
The way she stole my feelings
And I just can't even cry I should run my way back home by now
Because I gave her everything I got
I can't stand the way she broke my heart
Because I gave her
All my dreams
All my hopes
All the things I love and that I used to know
That I pray everyday
But I feel so empty since she went away Well I can't get used to it
I get her off my mind
The way she stole my feelings
And I just can't even cry I should run my way back home by now
Because I gave her everything I got
I can't stand the way she broke my heart
Because I gave her Well I can't get used to it
I get her off my mind
The way she stole my feelings
And I just can't even cry
This wound will last forever
Or maybe till I die
So I keep holding on
Until I get another try I should run my way back home by now
Because I gave her everything I got
I can't stand the way she broke my heart
No I can't stand the way she broke my heart I should run my way back home by now
Because I gave her everything I got
I can't stand the way she broke my heart I should run my way back home by now
I can't stand the way she broke my heart

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>