Walkway Blues (feat. Jordan Lawlor)

M83

Taking a foreign flight Looking for signs of life When you flashed upon my screen Testing the atmosphere Your silhouette appears And I know I'm not alone But empty haze Is all that remains I'm lost on the sidewalk Just calling your nameI'm lost on the sidewalk calling your name I can't stand to see you walking away I sleep on the concrete everything's changed You walked off with someone new anyway I'm lost on the sidewalk (calling your name) I can't stand to see you walking away I sleep on the concrete (everything's changed) You walked off with someone new anywayLive via satellite Checking my vital signs Because it all feels so unreal Everything good must end But we can live again In the glass simulacra I can't replace Your ethereal waves I sleep on the concrete And dream of the daysI sleep on the concrete everything's changed You walked off with someone new anyway I'm lost on the sidewalk calling your name I can't stand to see you walking away I'm lost on the sidewalk (calling your name) I can't stand to see you walking away I sleep on the concrete (everything's changed) You walked off with someone new anyway

Lyrics provided by http://counterlikes.com/