Sharon Van Etten

there he goes he finally closed the door i turn the lock feeling more confused than beforewhat gives i thought that you would love more now you're a coward, sure then he rains, look in his eyes he loves youwell, well i am bad well, well, hell i am bad he's smart he leaves me wanting more knowing that i gave less and knowing whytime, time is what i would need full of myself, indeed just walk away, surprised he loved youwell, well i am bad well, well, hell i am bad at lovingtrust, you know that i trusted you but i could not let you do to just fall in try, i wanted to try for you wanted to die for you dramatic things, the lies i loved youwell, well i am bad well, well, hell i am bad at loving yousurprise just look in my eyes
