

Black Eyed Man

Cowboy Junkies

(Michael Timmins)Black eyed man he took the blame for the poisoning of the well
They found this shoes by the pulley
They found his fingerprints all over the pailBlack eyed man I'm warning you the people around here will not be fooled by a simple line or two Yes your honour I do solemnly swear that I saw him late last night, dancing barefoot, bathed in light and reaching for every star in sight Yes I did go to him, but completely against my will and yes he did things to me things of which I dream of stillBlack eyed man I'm warning you what I say is what you'll do to hell with love and truthI always meant to say I'm sorry for all the things I said and did 'Sorry,' I feel better now, do you?
But you promised me the sky and fell short a star or two What else did you expect me to do?
Black eyed man he took the blame
for the poisoning of the well
They found his shoes by the pulley
They found his fingerprints all over the pail
With a noose around his neck, cicadas trilling everywhere,
he says to the people gathered round him,
'it ain't the water that's not right around here'Black eyed man I'm thirsty dear be a love and bring some water here drawn fresh from the well

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <http://counterlikes.com/>