Rain

Terence Trent D'Arby

Take off your topcoats Put on your raincoats And now give up your birthright And don't you cry 'Cause in 23 verses now A storm is a-comin' And you'll be too surprised To wonder whyAnd it will Rain rain Go away, go away Rain rain Come back again another day Step out your cool suit Snap on you wet boots And now eat all you mushrooms Until you see That in 22 verses now A storm is a-brewin' And you'll be too annoyed For victory'Cause it will Rain rain Go away, go away Rain rain Come back again another dayChina glass & A chocolate bar I'm leaving behind So my children's children Children's children Will see what's left of me Cue up the James Brown And jack up the funky sound now Say it won't be the last time You hear a scream 'Cause in 21 verses now A storm is a-ragin' And you will satisfy your destinyAnd it will Rain rain Go away, go away Rain rain Come back again another day
