Schiller

He starts your fire then he cools down He comes by when he wants you then he stops coming round You say his love's like nothing else, you never felt so much What you're feeling might be something else But it don't look like love 'cause love don't lie And love don't cheat Love don't promise what it can't keep And love ain't someone you always miss Oh won't you let me hold you And i will show what love is I'll build a fire you can't put out I'll take you higher than you've ever dreamed about I know it's hard to let him go but is he worth the pain 'cause even though you say he cares Love don't look that way 'cause love don't lie And love don't cheat Love don't promise what it can't keep And love ain't someone you always miss Oh won't you let me hold you and i will show you that Love don't lie And love don't cheat Love don't promise what it can't keep And love ain't someone you always miss Oh won't you let me hold you And i will show what love is And
