Lipstick From the Asylum

Alpha

When i can't look The other way There's only you To wonderAnd on hard times A doorway leans on days As though im needing you And some have helped me become older I suggest you're using me After moving on I'm really sorry lost time won't wait You always took so long I'm leaving nowAll your praising me Turned tides all over mine Are you erasing me Lipstick from the asylum goes on Something that has stolen us Always some Something that has stolen us Always someI put it on you and me and now I hate it all you and meI put it on you and me and now I hate it all you and me I put it on you and me and now I hate it all you and meI put it on you and me and now I hate it all you and me
